

Name: Adds Quiterio

Title of Lesson: Creating a realistic character through various literacies.

Grade Level: 10th Grade

Essential Question: How does analysis and various literacies help create realistic and impactful characters?

Prior Knowledge Required: Writing, Reading, script writing, analyzing

Learning Standards:

TH:Cr1.1 Generate and conceptualize artistic ideas and work - High School Proficient

TH:Cr1.1.HSl.c Use script analysis to generate ideas about a character that is believable and authentic in a drama/theatre work.

Learning Objectives: : Students will be able to use different disciplinary literacies such as reading, writing, communicating, and viewing to develop/design a life-like character.

Enduring Understandings: Students will be able to identify various elements of theatre analysis and traits such as character traits, analysis, and objectives and ways to use different literacies.

Teacher Materials/Preparation:

1. Augusta and Noble script
2. Fences Film/Movie by August Wilson
3. Paciencia y Fe “In the Heights”
4. Google Slideshows

Student Materials:

1. Augusta and Noble script
2. Fences Film/Movie
3. Paciencia y Fe song and lyrics
4. Google Slideshows

Bibliography:

1. Augusta and Noble script published in 2013
2. Fences Film/Movie by August Wilson published on December 25th, 2016
3. Paciencia y Fe “In the Heights” lyrics by Lin Manuel Miranda, published June 21st of 2021. The song was sung by Olga Merediz
<https://youtu.be/kTHXSSj2uVo?si=nUvevK16BgOslQWO>
- 4.

Motivation and Anticipatory Set:

Activity/Method Title	Time	Description/Procedure
Introduction/Anticipatory Set: Instructions and example	Time: 10 Minutes Warm up Kitty wants a corner	Today's warmup game is "Kitty Wants a Corner" so we have played this before but I'll go over the rules again. Students will gather in a circle and one individual will be in the middle. The student in the middle has to go to someone in the circle and say "Kitty wants a corner" that student says no. As the individual asks for a corner, students begin running to swap spots. The kitty has to beat someone into a spot, this is similar to duck, duck, goose.
Transition: Now that we are all warmed up, let's begin our lesson!

Procedure:

Describe and, if needed, number the steps of an activity that will allow students to creatively use the new concepts and/or skills you will teach. The description of the instructional procedures should be thorough and follow a logical sequence. Clearly explain what the teacher will do and what the students will do. Make sure students understand the connection between the activity and the objectives/standards of the lesson. Do not assume anything and do not write this section in First Person. Use the format below. Note: Your lesson may include more or less than 4 activities, please adjust accordingly.

Activity/Method Title	Time	Description/Procedure
Learning Activity/ Method #1: Augusta and Noble Reading	10 Minutes	Today's focus is on generating a realistic character using societal issues. It is important we are aware of the impacts of societal issues such as discrimination towards undocumented individuals and people of color so that we continue to dismantle these systems.

		Today we are going to do more analysis like how we have done for previous scripts. We will use our analytical skills to break down character traits and objectives to create a realistic character for our summative. We will read pages 23-32 of Augusta and Noble. I'm going to need someone to read Gabi, Coyote, Reymundo, and Mujer Azul. After this, we are going to do the Think, Pair, share activity.
Transition: Now that we finished reading these pages, let's move on to our Think, Pair, Share activity.
Learning Activity/ Method #2: Think, Pair, Share	Time: 10	A google slideshow will show the following: "From the pages we read, what about the dialogue helps shape this character? What character traits do you notice?" I will give you 3 minutes to answer. Now that you wrote this down, turn to the person next to you and partner up and share your responses. I will also include myself in a conversation with my students and share insights. Now that you shared with your partner lets have at least 3 people share what their partner said. 3 people will share.
Transition: Great job! Now that we shared we are going to see some clips of Fences by August Wilson.
Learning Activity/ Method #3:	Time: 15	Now we are going to see clips of Fences. We will watch the whole movie another time but today I want to do some clips. We will stop to answer some questions as I pause the clips. Some of the questions are the following: "What is the body language of this character?" "How does the tone

Fences by August Wilson Think Alouds		and body language help shape the character to look natural?” “What societal issue is being depicted?” “What helps show that” “What is the character's objective?” As students answer I will comment as well.
Transition: Now that we saw some “Fences” and shared things we saw or noticed, lets move on to our final literacy to analyze!
Learning Activity/ Method #4: In the Heights Paciencia y Fe Analyzing	Time: 10 Minutes	I will pull up a Youtube video of “In the Heights” song “Paciencia y Fe”. They will answer the following questions by analyzing the lyrics. “What societal issue is being depicted? How does this impact the way the actress is singing? What lyrics stand out to you”
Transition: Let's wrap up our analysis of the lyrics to move on to our final activity!

Closure:

How will you help students summarize the key points of the lesson to reinforce what they have learned?

How will you help them use what they have learned?

Activity/Method Title	Time	Description/Procedure
Exit Slip	5 Minutes	Please take out a piece of paper for our final activity. Based on the activities and work we did today that help aid us in creating a realistic character using various forms of literacies and societal issues, I need you to answer the following questions. Once you answer them completely, turn it in to me with your first and last name on it. “What techniques did you notice help create a realistic character? Which literacy helped you the most” How do these analytical skills acquired impact you in and outside of the classroom? Once you complete it I need people to share what you wrote down. Yo

Assessment: (Formative)

Based on some literacy techniques we used and our analytical skills, create a short scene performance with a partner in which you use various skills to perform as a realistic character.

Assessment: (Summative)

Towards the end of the unit, students will create a finalized character using various techniques such as reading, writing, communicating, and viewing, to formulate a character and script.

Assignment/Homework: Begin creating a short scene to develop a performance in which you create a realistic performance.

Accommodations: For a student who is hard of hearing, I will make sure to utilize captions in the videos and provide a transcript of what I say to the student so that they can refer back to it. If I have a visually impaired student, I will make sure to include fonts that are big enough. I will also use audio to assist my student.

Augusta and Noble - It is a script. The script and the Think Pair Share activity help meet my curricular goals by helping my students analyze a character and the characters' dialogue and its influence in creating a realistic character. Considering the school I will be teaching in is predominantly Latine, using a script with a Latine family helps relate to my students.

Fences - This is a film. It helps meet curricular goals in my content area because using the think aloud and film, allow students to interpret character objectives and traits. This is also important because this film depicts racism and misogyny. Considering I am teaching in a school with students of color, it is important they are represented.

Paciencia y Fe - It helps meet curricular goals in my content area because students will be using their analytical skills to decipher character expression and voice and how it helps bring a character to life. This is a Latine song that talks about societal issues and is important and impactful to my Latine students.