

It is with great pride that I compose this letter of recommendation for Addis Quiterio in support of their application for a teaching position. I had the joy of getting to know Addis in my Fall 2025 Integrating Multiple Literacies & Technology Across Secondary Curriculum course at Illinois State University. As both a student and an educator, Addis demonstrated creativity, empathy, and enthusiasm. They used their passion for theater education and trauma-informed practice to empower all students as learners.

Addis's commitment to meaningful and collaborative learning experiences was evident in a mini lesson they delivered to their peers using "readers theater" as a literacy routine. This class included secondary teacher candidates across all content areas, and Addis was the only theater education major. Anticipating that many of their peers would be hesitant to jump right into an acting exercise, Addis took intentional time to welcome them into the space of learning through a warm-up activity, and they responded to peers' ideas with encouraging feedback. This lesson not only demonstrated Addis's confidence and competency with literacy instruction, but it also showcased their ability to meet students where they are and propel their learning forward.

Addis's future school community will benefit greatly from their reflective demeanor and strong work ethic. At the conclusion of my course, Addis submitted a final assignment discussing the ways in which they had grown throughout the semester. I appreciated hearing how they valued the critical feedback they had received both from me and from their peers; they had a clear vision for moving forward and were able to share actionable takeaways that they will continue to implement into their practice. Their open-mindedness and responsiveness stand out to me as key qualities that will make them an effective educator.

In closing, Addis is an outstanding teacher candidate who empowers their students and encourages their colleagues. I am confident that they will bring their dedication and care to serve your school community. If you have any questions or would like any additional information, please contact me.

Sincerely,
